Shadow, Live Oak and Derfargilla Get Events-George Engeman Arrives at St. Asaph.

Evidently the bookmakers are satisfied with the outlook for business in the St. Asaph meeting, as twenty books went on to-day and the betting was active. The weather was cloudy but pleasant, and the track fast. The attendance was la ge and included many women. George 1. Engeman and Max Frank were among the new arrivals.

Eleven horses were originally entered on the card in the first race, but by the on the card in the first race, but by the time the horses were at the post, the field half been reduced to five.

hearing his story, the doctor notified the police.

The injured man says that while he was intoxicated last night he visited a point shop on Flushing avenue, near his home. While in the place he lighted a cigaretta. He threw the flaming match away, and it fell into a can of benzine. Instantly there was a terrific explosion, and his clothing caught fire. He ran out of the place, and after wandering about in search of a doctor, he finally went to the home of his sister.

The police made a partial investigation, but found no record of any fire or explosion on or near Flushing avenue, or, for that matter, in any other past of the city. No one seems to know anything of the case, and the wounderman says he has told everything.

The police are, however, inclined to doubt his story.

thus putting an end to all con these districts. Senator Hill came here, it wa to conciliate everybody, and he has surceeded to a large extent.

The indications are that before the day is over, all the knots will have been untied, and in every district Tamma regardless of factions, will have upon single candidates.

Senator Hill met the eaders this merning and went over the same ground with them that he is known to have covered so often during the past few weeks. His self-imposed task of urging them to sac-rifice something for the sake of harmony was a difficult one, but in the end he won. The Tammanyites with whom he talked admitted that his arguments were in the main correct. Then a partial agreement was reached.

The Reported Agreement. It was to the effect that Gen. Daniel Sickles, who had been nominated for Congress, should be withdrawn in favor of John De Witt Warner, or some other well-known Cleveland Democrat favorable to the Grace Democracy.

Another withdrawal decided upon was that of Lawyer Walsh, in the Congressional District, in favor ward J. Dunphy. It was admitted that there would be considerable difficulty is inducing Waish to withdraw. Dunnby, however, it was asserted, would run on an opposition ticket, anyhow, in case Tammany did not openly indorse him. Senator Charles J. Faulkner, Chairman of the Democratic Congressional Cam-paign Committee, who has come to New York to work for harmony between Tamgard to Congressional candidates, called on Senator Hill at the Park Avenue Hutel this morning. After a half hour's conference he returned to the Imperial Hotel, where he met Mayor Giroy and Police Commissioner Martin.

Tammany Men Disappeared. After a long conference Mr. Grace and Mr. Scott went over to the Democratile State Headquarters, and had a talk with Senator Hill. When they came out Mr. Grace said nothing had been agreed upon and made the astonishing statement that none of the Tammany men had appeared to argue the question with them.

As Grant, Martin and Sheehan ware known to have been in consultation with Mr. Hill only a few minutes before, the supposition was that they had left headquarters through some rear door while Grace and Scott were entering by another.

However Mr. Grace said that a compromise would undoubtedly be agreed upon after he had seen one or two men. The inference was plain that the parties to be seen were Sickles and Walsh.

Senator David B. Hill's presence at Democratic State Headquarters to-day was the occasion of a great scurrying around among the headquarters staff, and many rumor were current concerning what was going to happen before the day was over.

Mr. Hill at once took hold of the campaign sisering-gear, and assumed his accustomed reserve concerning his intentions.
